

Four Siblings All Share The Same Birthday

Something unbelievable has happened to an English family. There are four children in the family. That's not unbelievable, but this is. All four children have the same birthday!

Are you thinking they are quadruplets? Nope, they aren't quadruplets.

On January 12 baby Ryan was born. That's the same day his two-year-old twin sisters Nicole and Brooke were born. It is also the same day his five-year-old brother Sam was born. They all have the same birthday!

Emily is the mother. She couldn't believe the coincidence. "I really can't believe we have another birthday on the same day!" she said.

Baby Ryan was born three days past his due date. Sam was born two weeks past his due date. The twins had to be delivered a month early because doctors were worried about their health. "Having all my children on the same day was not planned. It just happened that way!" mom said.

The parents plan on having one big birthday celebration for their four children every year. Those are definitely going to be some big birthday parties!

The odds of all four children being born on the same day are about 1 in 133,225.

Do you share the same birthday with a famous person? If so, who is it?