

Space Balloon

The company World View has big plans. It plans to take passengers on a two-hour-long balloon ride. The balloon will go into the stratosphere!

The company will start test flights this year. The balloon has a special space capsule. The capsule holds six passengers and two pilots.

To get the capsule up so high, it will be attached to an enormous helium balloon. A parachute is attached in case the balloon pops or other problems occur.

If all tests go well they could be taking passengers up to the stratosphere in three years. However, it isn't cheap, tickets will cost $75,000 per person.

Do you want to the space?

Do you want to pay $75,000 to go to the space?