

Boy Rights His Father's Wrong

Seventy-eight-year-old Tona Herndon of was visiting her husband's newly dug grave. A heartless thief stole her purse while she was grieving.

Thankfully the police caught the unfeeling thief. After he was caught the thief's mug shot was shown on the nightly news. 15-year-old Christian Lunsford recognized the offender right away. The man was his father!

His father left his family when Christian was just two years old. Christian's dad became a criminal and was in and out of prison ever since. His father almost never visits Christian.

After seeing his father on TV, Christian was upset and embarrassed. Then, the 15-year-old did something outstanding. He took $250 of his own money and gave it to the white-haired widow.

Christian's father is back in prison. Christian is happy; he and his new 'grandma' have become close friends.

What do you think?