

That's Not My Dog!

back

A man went to a shop and bought a pizza. He got into his car and started driving. But soon, he found that he was not in his car at all!

Why did it happen? The man parked his red car next to another red car. Those cars were in the same model with same color. The other car owner left the key inside the car. So the man could start the engine. He believed that was his car.

Soon, he found a dog in the back seat. He said, "That's not my dog! This is not my car, either!" He was surprised. The dog was a gentle English Labrador. His name was Fletcher. He was on a dog bed in the back seat. The man's dog was also in the back of his red car, but his dog was black.

The owner of the other car said, "I was surprised. I thought my car was safe, because I had a big dog and he could protect the car. But Fletcher wasn't a guard dog.

In the end, everything was okay. The man and the dog's owner switched cars, and he drove his car with his dog and the other car owner drove her car with her dog.

(212 words)

Have you made any big mistakes?

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TfP3mlnCBfo>

That's Not My Dog!

T or F?

1. The man drove the wrong car because it looked like his car. (T)
2. The man found a cat in the back seat of the car. (F)
3. The man' s dog was also in the back seat of his red car. (T)
4. The dog in the back seat of the wrong car was a guard dog. (F)
5. In the end, the man and the car owner switched cars and drove home. (T)

Answers: 1. T 2. F 3. T 4. F 5. T